

California Department of Public Health (CDPH)
Injury and Violence Prevention Branch (IVPB)/Violence Prevention Initiative (VPI)

Webinar: Suicide in California – Data Trends in 2020, COVID Impact, and Prevention Strategies

Wednesday, July 28, 2021
1:00 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. (PST)

Presenters will highlight data for the state overall as well as provide a more detailed look at how suicide and self-harm have been experienced differently by age, race/ethnicity and/or sex. Additionally, this webinar will highlight results from a study about experiences of violence in the past year among Californians, including impacts of COVID-19 on violence, economic hardship, and health (including suicidality and gun purchases). Presenters will also provide information on evidence-based suicide prevention strategies and current CDPH violence prevention programs.

Webinar Presentations/Speakers:

- CA Suicide Trends in 2020
 - Nichole Watmore, MPH

CDPH, Injury and Violence Prevention Branch

- CA Self-Harm Injury Trends in 2020
 - Orion Stewart, PhD

CDPH, Injury and Violence Prevention Branch

- The State of Violence, Health, and Pandemic Community Impacts in California: Findings from the CalVEX study
 - Dr. Anita Raj
Center on Gender Equity and Health at UC San Diego

- Evidence-Based Youth Suicide Prevention Strategies
- Overview of CDPH Violence Prevention Programs
 - Renay Bradley, PhD, Sara Mann, MPH

CDPH, Injury and Violence Prevention Branch

 - Katey Rosenquist, MPH
CDPH, Office of Strategic Development and External Relations (Fusion Center)

We encourage you to share the information about this webinar broadly. Thank you!

To register, please click here.